

SURVIVING CHANUKAH – GROUP ACTIVITY

- Divide the class into tribes – each tribe has 6 participants.
- Each tribe decorates a fabric sheet which will be cut up in advance and they can choose a name if they wish.
- Each tribe will pass through stations in rotation, and at each station will receive points. At the end of the activity the points will be added up and the winning tribe will be announced, who has beaten all the rest of the tribes. The stations will be operated by volunteering children or by those nominated from the class.
- The stations:
 1. Drinking lemon juice in as little time as possible.
 2. Moving from place to place by the entire group on three squares of cardboard – you must not touch the grass.
 3. A human pyramid in 10 seconds.
 4. Constructing a jigsaw puzzle of a pitcher.
 5. Competition of songs about light.
 6. Knocking over items on an elevated ledge by means of throwing stones (ensure that there is no one in the area first).
- Gather everyone together and announce the winners. Distribute doughnuts.
- The station operators – each operator is required to organize for himself a watch with a stopper for the activity.
- The operators write down the times that the groups succeeded in performing the tasks, after all the groups performed all the tasks, the operators divide the score from 1-6. The groups with the shortest time receive 6 points and the groups with the longest time 1 point.
